WOW. WOW. Because @CryptoVillage sells badges to offset the cost of working for free with absolutely no support from @defcon, we are being charged at minimum $1,000 vendor fee by DEF CON.

defcon.org/html/defcon-26... We have to PAY DEFCON to work for free.

Now that you have everyone stirred up..

If you sell anything at all the State of Nevada demands their sales tax. The State makes DEF CON liable for it, unlike most all other states. That means we need to be sure all “vendors” pay. If not they have a wide range of punishments.

If we have an on site audit and you are found to be selling and yet you have not provided DEF CON with tax information (so we never forwarded it to Nevada) then DEF CON is in trouble.

We are not going to risk the con over that.

Not complaining about taxes. You're conflating the issues.

Off to Las Vegas for a #defcon pre-con site visit. By adding Planet Hollywood we will have some cool new spaces to explore.

It's time for a convention center, having the con split into multiple hotels has become impossible to attend. The lines alone r ridiculous & does not scale well! I'm a super fan of #defcon & I'm a lifetime supporter but it has become a con of multiple small conferences! #myOpinion

The problem with convention centers is we have to build every room and sound insulation is almost impossible.

Planet Hollywood is super close to Paris, not like last year when you had to cross a major street.

That said we have been looking at all possible options.

I'm still in Vegas for #Defcon planning and CES is starting. Guys at table next to me are talking to possible business partners and just realizing that possible partners will harvest and resell all their customer email addresses.

Vegas resort properties have a strict no firearms policy and they don't mess around. We must follow their rules.

The #Defcon30 Theme is... Hacker Homecoming!

It's been a crazy couple of years, but we're looking forward to reuniting in Vegas with more of our hacker family next summer. We hope you're excited about it, too. Full theme announcement is here:

Ha, nothing is like Las Vegas DEF CON. We have to adapt, obviously, with the environment but the hunger for knowledge and community is strong in China

Chris Hadnagy vs. DEF CON lawsuit DISMISSED

Update:
- Judge Beetlestone in PA dismissed the suit w/o pre-trial discovery, ruling that it lacked personal jurisdiction.
- Case dismissed without prejudice, so Mr. Hadnagy is free to refile and attempt to litigate in another venue.

Additional context:
- During our investigation we spoke directly with Mr. Hadnagy about claims of his violations of our Code of Conduct. He confirmed his behavior, and agreed to stop. Unfortunately, the behavior did not stop.

- Before DEF CON finalized our response, Mr. Hadnagy informed us that his Social Engineering Village would not be returning to DEF CON.

- Our investigation also revealed that DEF CON is not the only security conference to receive complaints about Mr. Hadnagy's behavior. For example, Black Hat received complaints, conducted their own investigation and removed Mr. Hadnagy from their Review Board.
